John G. Heyburn II, A View from the Panel: Part of the Solution, 82 Tul. L. Rev. 2225, 2241 (2008).....4, 8

Defendants the Federal Housing Finance Agency (“FHFA”), the Federal National Mortgage Association (“Fannie Mae”), and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (“Freddie Mac”) (together with Fannie Mae, the “Enterprises”) (collectively, the “Enterprise Defendants”) hereby oppose Genesee County’s Motion for Transfer Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407 (“Section 1407”). These cases do not meet the standard for centralization under Section 1407, and even the Plaintiffs<sup>1</sup> in these actions are not in agreement that transfer is warranted.<sup>2</sup>

At the heart of this litigation is a single, common, threshold legal question—whether the Enterprise Defendants’ express federal statutory exemptions from “all [state and local] taxation” preclude states, counties, and municipalities from taxing the Enterprises when they transfer real estate. No “common questions of fact” are presented on that point, and if the Enterprise Defendants prevail on that core legal issue, all factual issues (common or case-specific) will be moot. Even if the Enterprise Defendants do not prevail on that threshold issue, their liability for transfer taxes will depend primarily upon the purely legal issue of whether state and county statutory exemptions apply, while calculation of damages would be a case-specific process individualized by particular taxing authority or state.

Moreover, Genesee’s motion amounts to a brazen attempt to forum shop. Genesee asks the Panel to steer all actions to the Eastern District of Michigan. Yet Genesee fails to mention that that court is the only tribunal so far that has decided the threshold liability issue, or that that court granted summary judgment to Genesee, holding (erroneously, in Defendants' view) that the Enterprise Defendants' statutory exemptions from "all [state and local] taxation" do not apply to transfer taxes. Genesee plainly seeks to ensure that the same outcome will follow in all other cases. The Panel ordinarily frowns on such gamesmanship and should reject it here.

<sup>1</sup> The Enterprise Defendants refer to their adverse parties as “Plaintiffs.” In one action (FHFA, et al. v. Hamer, et al., No. 3:12-cv-50230, N.D. Ill., filed June 22, 2012), the procedural roles are reversed—the Enterprise Defendants are seeking a declaratory judgment as plaintiffs. The Enterprise Defendants refer to moving Plaintiff Genesee County, Michigan as “Genesee.”

<sup>2</sup> See Doc. # 91 at 1 (“Wyoming County opposes the Motion as unnecessary in this case.”); see also In re: Boehringer Ingelheim Pharm., Inc., Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) Litig., MDL 2219, 2011 WL 346946 (J.P.M.L. Feb. 4, 2011) (observing that transfer is “less compelling” where “the defendants and/or some of the plaintiffs oppose centralization”).

Should the Panel nevertheless deem transfer appropriate, the Enterprise Defendants respectfully submit that certain actions should be excluded and the remaining actions transferred to the Eastern District of Virginia, a convenient and efficient forum well suited to handle the issues presented by these cases, in which a transfer tax case is already pending before the Honorable Henry E. Hudson.

THE ENTERPRISES, THE CONSERVATOR, AND THE EXEMPTION STATUTES

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac are government-sponsored enterprises chartered by Congress to establish secondary market facilities for residential mortgages, to provide stability and liquidity to the secondary market for residential mortgages, and to promote access to mortgage credit throughout the Nation. See 12 U.S.C. §§ 1716; 1451 note. FHFA is an independent federal agency, created pursuant to the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 ("HERA"), Pub L. No. 110-289, 122 Stat. 2654, codified at 12 U.S.C. § 4617 et seq., with comprehensive regulatory and oversight authority over the Enterprises and the Federal Home Loan Banks. On September 6, 2008, the Director of FHFA placed the Enterprises into FHFA's conservatorship; FHFA appears in these cases in its capacity as Conservator to the Enterprises.

Each of the three Enterprise Defendants is statutorily exempt from materially "all [state and local] taxation." Fannie Mae's federal charter provides that Fannie Mae, "including its franchise, capital, reserves, surplus, mortgages or other security holdings, and income, shall be exempt from all taxation now and hereafter imposed by any State, . . . county, municipality, or local taxing authority, except that any real property of the corporation shall be subject to State, territorial, county, municipal, or local taxation to the same extent as other real property is taxed.” 12 U.S.C. § 1723a(c)(2) (emphasis added). Freddie Mac’s federal charter similarly provides that Freddie Mac, “including its franchise, activities, capital, reserves, surplus, and income, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by . . . any State, county, municipality, or local taxing authority, except that any real property of [Freddie Mac] shall be subject to State, territorial, county, municipal, or local taxation to the same extent according to its value as other real property is taxed.” Id. § 1452(e) (emphasis added).<sup>3</sup>

Hence, this litigation turns on a single, threshold legal question—whether Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and FHFA are statutorily exempt from paying taxes state and local government plaintiffs would impose upon them for exercising the privilege of transferring real estate.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

The Panel should deny transfer under Section 1407.

First, this litigation is not appropriate for centralization because there is no “common question[] of fact,” as Section 1407 requires. Rather, the primary common issue in these cases is purely legal. This Panel has often held that where the material facts relating to liability are largely undisputed, where there is unlikely to be any merits discovery on liability, and where the only substantial issues are legal questions, transfer under Section 1407 is not appropriate.

Second, although centralization of any set of similar cases could conceivably create some efficiencies, transfer and centralizations here would not promote the just and efficient conduct of these actions, nor would it make them substantially more convenient. Genesee urges the Panel to transfer all cases to Judge Victoria Roberts of the Eastern District of Michigan, yet such a transfer would be unjust. Genesee fails to mention that on March 23, 2012, Judge Roberts granted summary judgment to Genesee and another Michigan county,<sup>4</sup> holding (erroneously, in the Enterprise Defendants' view) that the Enterprises' statutory exemptions from "all taxation" do not apply to Michigan's real estate transfer taxes, and thereby triggering the current spate of litigation. Hence, although Genesee's motion purports merely to seek transfer to a convenient forum for efficient proceedings, it appears calculated instead to ensure that the single existing ruling on the purely legal threshold liability issue will control all cases. The Panel should not permit Genesee (or any of the other Plaintiffs) to "'game' the system" by shunting all similar litigation to the one court where a Plaintiff already has won an outcome in its favor on the central legal issue common to all other cases. See John G. Heyburn II, A View from the Panel: Part of the Solution, 82 Tul. L. Rev. 2225, 2241 (2008). Moreover, transfer here would be particularly inappropriate due to significant disparities in procedural posture.

If the Panel is nevertheless inclined to centralize any of the cases, the Panel should withhold cases that are procedural outliers, and transfer the remaining actions to the Eastern District of Virginia, where a Transfer Tax case is already pending before Judge Hudson.

ARGUMENT

I. THE PANEL SHOULD DENY TRANSFER UNDER SECTION 1407

A. The Actions Involve Few, If Any, Common Questions of Fact, Involving Instead Purely Legal Questions as to Liability

These cases are not appropriate for MDL transfer and centralization. To warrant transfer under Section 1407(a), the actions must present “one or more common questions of fact.” 28 U.S.C. § 1407(a) (emphasis added). To satisfy this statutory prerequisite, the party seeking transfer may not simply allege a common factual background; it must instead present outstanding factual questions that remain unresolved and are subject to further exploration through discovery. The principal common issue in these cases—the application of the federal statutes exempting the Enterprise Defendants from materially “all [state and local] taxation”—is one of law, not fact, making them ill-suited for centralization under Section 1407.

Where the actions involve largely undisputed facts and the overriding questions in each action are legal in nature, transfer under Section 1407 is not warranted, even if the threshold legal issues are “common” across the cases. As explained in the Multidistrict Litigation Manual:

The common issues of fact must be contested issues. If a party stipulates as to the common issues, then no common issues will exist, and transfer will not be appropriate. The presence of common issues of law has no effect on transfer: it is neither a necessary nor sufficient condition for transfer. Where the issues in a case are primarily legal in nature, even though some fact issues may exist, the Panel is nearly certain to conclude that transfer is not appropriate. In one case, the Panel observed: “Merely to avoid two federal courts having to decide the same issue is, by itself, usually not sufficient to justify Section 1407 centralization.” If the actions present common factual issues that would be disposed of by a single legal issue, the Panel is likely to determine not to order transfers.

Multidistrict Litig. Manual § 5:4 (2012 ed.) (emphasis added) (quoting In re Medi-Cal Reimbursement Rate Reduction Litig., 652 F. Supp. 2d 1378 (J.P.M.L. 2009) (citations omitted)).

Indeed, the Panel has long denied motions to transfer actions that involve common issues of law but not fact. For example, in In re Envtl. Prot. Agency Pesticide Listing Confidentiality Litig., 434 F. Supp. 1235, 1236 (J.P.M.L. 1977), the Panel denied a transfer motion where, as here, the “principal issue” common to all the actions was one of statutory interpretation. In that case as here, the parties seeking transfer urged that the issue be resolved “by unified proceedings on motions to dismiss in all actions before a single forum.” Id. The Panel rejected this argument and denied transfer because “these actions raise few if any common questions of fact.” Id. Instead, the Panel concluded that transfer and centralization were not appropriate because “the predominant, and perhaps only, common aspect in these actions is a legal question of statutory interpretation,” and because “[a]ny factual issues are primarily, if not entirely, unique questions pertaining to. . . each [individual] action.” Id.

The Panel has applied this principle to deny transfer many times, including just last year,<sup>5</sup> and the same principle precludes transfer and centralization here. The facts as to the Enterprise Defendants’ liability for transfer tax are largely undisputed, leaving only legal issues to govern

<sup>5</sup> See, e.g., In re Keith Russell Judd Voting Rights Litig., 816 F. Supp. 2d 1383, 1383 (J.P.M.L. 2011) (denying transfer where “[t]he overriding question in each action is one that is largely legal in nature, making these actions unsuitable for centralization”); In re: Removal from U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Active Status List Litig., 787 F. Supp. 2d 1350, 1351 (J.P.M.L. 2011) (denying transfer where “factual questions . . . are largely undisputed,” and observing that “there may be less pretrial discovery, and common legal issues, rather than factual questions, may predominate the unresolved matters”); In re: Prop. Assessed Clean Energy (PACE) Programs Litig., 764 F. Supp. 2d 1345, 1346-47 (J.P.M.L. 2011) (denying transfer where “common factual issues [were] largely undisputed and primarily common legal questions [were] left to be decided”); In re Airline “Age of Emp.” Employ’t Practices Litig., 483 F. Supp. 814, 817 (J.P.M.L. 1980) (denying transfer where “common questions, to the extent any exist among these actions, will be mainly legal questions concerning the applicability of” a federal statute); In re Okla. Ins. Holding Co. Act Litig., 464 F. Supp. 961, 965 (J.P.M.L. 1979) (denying transfer where “each of these [purportedly common] questions is, at best, a mixed question of fact and of law, and that the legal aspects of these questions clearly predominate . . . even if those question involve some limited common questions of fact, [they] are an inadequate predicate for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings”); In re Am. Home Prods. Corp “Released Value” Claims Litig., 448 F. Supp. 276, 278 (J.P.M.L. 1978) (denying transfer where “the predominant, and perhaps only, common aspect in these actions is the legal question of what measure of damages is applicable” under the relevant statute); In re Natural Gas Liquids Regulation Litig., 434 F. Supp. 665, 668 (J.P.M.L. 1977) (denying transfer where “these actions raise a common question of law and share few, if any, common questions of fact”); In re U. S. Navy Variable Reenlistment Bonus Litig., 407 F. Supp. 1405, 1407 (J.P.M.L. 1976) (denying transfer where “questions of law rather than common questions of fact are significantly preponderant and, hence, Section 1407 treatment would in any event be unwarranted”).

the question. Tellingly, Genesee identifies no common questions of fact to be decided in these actions. Genesee identifies as “principal facts” the fact that counties are obligated to collect transfer taxes, that the Enterprises claim to be exempt, that the counties dispute that exemption, and that the Enterprises are liable to pay the transfer taxes. Genesee Br. at 4-6. These are nothing more than undisputed background facts that provide “context” for the case—as the plaintiffs in the Florida transfer tax action acknowledge in their response in support (see Nicolai Resp. at 2)—or legal conclusions in the guise of facts. The central fact alleged in each action, that the Enterprises did not pay all transfer taxes Plaintiffs claim were due when property was transferred (directly or indirectly) to or from an Enterprise, is undisputed—in light of their statutory exemption from “all taxation,” the Enterprises have not paid all transfer taxes Plaintiffs now claim were owed. The central issue—whether the Enterprise Defendants’ statutory exemptions protect them from liability for transfer taxes—is a purely legal question that can readily and promptly be resolved without the need for any discovery. See Oakland ECF No. 63; Genesee ECF No. 28.

Accordingly, the threshold, and potentially dispositive, question in all of these cases is not a factual question at all—a reality best illustrated by the Oakland case, where the plaintiff filed a motion for summary judgment as to liability one day after filing its complaint, and where the Enterprise Defendants later cross-moved for summary judgment, agreeing with the Oakland plaintiff’s assessment that no discovery was needed to resolve the question of the Enterprises’ liability for Michigan transfer taxes. See Oakland, ECF Nos. 5, 40; see also Genesee, ECF Nos. 11, 18, 21 (all parties, including the State of Michigan, cross-moved for summary judgment on liability, agreeing that there were no disputed facts and no discovery was needed). Indeed, Genesee has argued to this Panel that “the central issue in all the cases” is “the transfer tax exemption issue,” i.e., the purely legal question of whether the federal statutes that exempt the Enterprises and FHFA from “all taxation” somehow leave them exposed to transfer taxes. Genesee Br. 1 (Doc. #1-1); see also id. (characterizing the exemption issue as “critical” to the actions). Only if the court rules against the Enterprise Defendants on that central question would the court need to determine whether the Enterprises would otherwise be liable for such taxes under the relevant states’ laws. But these too are legal questions—and ones that are not even common across the several actions because of differences among the relevant states’ laws. Indeed, for this very reason the Wyoming County, WV Plaintiffs concede that consolidation is not appropriate here. See supra note 2.

B. Transfer Would Not Promote the Just and Efficient Conduct of the Actions, Nor Would it Make the Litigation Substantially More Convenient

Convenience alone cannot justify centralization, and here, any alleged convenience benefits of centralization would be quite limited, as the transfer tax cases are unlikely to involve substantial discovery. But whatever considerations of convenience might suggest, an MDL transfer must also be fair and just to the parties. See Heyburn, A View from the Panel, 82 Tul. L. Rev. at 2237 (“Every transfer decision has the potential to prejudice a particular party or claim among the many. In difficult cases, the Panel will weigh the likely benefits of centralization against the possibility of such resulting unfairness.”). Here, Genesee’s proposal to transfer the cases to a court that has already decided the threshold legal issue in their favor is anything but fair and just; it is an unvarnished attempt to preordain the outcome of the litigation.

1. The Risk of Inconsistent Rulings on the Central Legal Issue in these Cases Does Not Justify Transfer

Genesee asserts that centralization before the Eastern District of Michigan is warranted to prevent inconsistent pretrial rulings on dispositive motions. Genesee Br. at 9. Genesee plainly wants that court to be the only one to rule on the “central” legal issue presented in each transfer tax case, applying its prior (and in the Enterprise Defendants’ view, erroneous) legal conclusion to each of the other pending actions, despite the fact that Defendants already have filed—or expect to file shortly—dispositive motions that present the same legal issue in the other cases.

This Panel’s function is not to prevent district or circuit court splits on legal issues or to orchestrate the absolute consistency of such rulings across the United States. As discussed above, this Panel’s central focus under the plain language of Section 1407 is to streamline proceedings where multiple cases address common factual questions, not common legal issues. See supra 4-8. As such, concerns about uniformity of the law are not sufficient to justify centralization. That is the province of the Supreme Court, which often permits legal issues to “percolate” throughout the circuits before resolving conflicting rulings.

This Panel’s decision in In re: Medi-Cal Reimbursement Rate Reduction Litig., 652 F.Supp.2d 1378 (J.P.M.L. 2009) is instructive. There, the Panel denied transfer of a series of cases that, “by and large, raise[d] strictly legal issues.” The Panel observed:

One of the Panel’s prime considerations is often the need to avoid inconsistent rulings on similar issues. Usually, that consideration is bolstered by the concern for duplicative and burdensome discovery leading up to the legal issues. Here, very little discovery appears necessary prior to the joinder of the legal issues. Merely to avoid two federal courts having to decide the same issue is, by itself, usually not sufficient to justify Section 1407 centralization.

Id. at 1378 (emphasis added). The same principle applies here. The Transfer Tax cases, “by and large, raise strictly legal issues,” and “very little discovery appears necessary prior to joinder of the legal issues.” Accordingly, “the concern for duplicative and burdensome discovery leading up to the legal issues” is wholly absent. Thus, the fact that multiple courts may decide the same legal issue in different ways is “not sufficient to justify Section 1407 centralization.” Id.

This principle is particularly apt here, where the very district court that granted summary judgment has certified, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), that “there is substantial ground for difference of opinion” as to the threshold legal question of “whether the federal statutes exempting the Enterprises and the Conservator from ‘all [state and local] taxation’ . . . apply to transfer taxes” imposed under Michigan law. Oakland ECF No. 73 (emphasis added). The Genesee/Oakland Court’s recognition that its decision—the first decision by a federal court on this important issue—should not be the end of the story is underscored by the fact that Michigan’s Department of Treasury, among others, had previously declared that “transfers to and from” the Enterprises “are not subject to the real estate transfer tax.” Letter (Aug. 12, 2011) (attached as Exhibit C) (emphasis added).<sup>6</sup> It is not appropriate to use the MDL mechanism as a de facto means of determining the merits of dozens of cases by transferring them to the one judge who has already decided the threshold substantive issue in an as-yet-untested, opinion that would effectively become the law of the land immediately upon transfer.

While it is possible that two courts could come to different legal conclusions as to the applicability of the Enterprises’ statutory exemptions from “all taxation,” the impact of such divergent rulings would not create any factually inconsistent obligations on the Enterprises because the transfer taxes are owed on a county-by-county basis. In other words, it is highly unlikely that two or more courts could render the Enterprises simultaneously liable and not liable to the same municipality with respect to the same state transfer tax. To the extent the court in

Hertel I (W.D. Mich.) concludes that the Enterprises are exempt from transfer taxes, that ruling's inconsistency with the earlier rulings in Genesee/Oakland (E.D. Mich.) would be resolved by the Sixth Circuit, where the Enterprise Defendants' petition to appeal is pending. Moreover, the Enterprises intend to seek consolidation of the two putative class actions pending in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of West Virginia (Goode and Hancock County). Although one of the actions, Massey (S.D. Ga.), was filed on behalf of a putative multi-state class (and thereby purports to overlap with some but not all of the other pending actions),<sup>7</sup> the Enterprise Defendants have opposed class certification and moved to strike the class allegations.

2. There Will Be No Merits Discovery on the Threshold and Potentially Dispositive Issue of the Enterprise Defendants' Liability for Transfer Taxes and Damages Discovery Will Be Highly Particularized

MDL transfer is typically appropriate for centralized fact-finding as to liability. For example, in In re Air Crash Disaster at Pago Pago, Am. Samoa, on January 30, 1974, 394 F. Supp. 799, 800 (J.P.M.L. 1975), a multi-district air disaster litigation, "the common questions of fact pertain[ed] to the issue of liability, whereas the issue of damages is unique with respect to each decedent." Because the parties had "resolved the issue of liability," the Panel denied transfer under Section 1407. Id.; see also In re Klein Med. Malpractice Litig., 398 F. Supp. 679, 680 (J.P.M.L. 1975) (denying transfer where "the common factual issues on the question of liability in each action are minimal") (emphasis added). Here, as discussed supra, there are no material issues of fact on the threshold and potentially dispositive legal issue of the applicability of the Enterprise Defendants’ exemption from “all [state and local] taxation”—it is undisputed that certain states’ laws impose a tax on the transfer of real estate and it is undisputed that real estate is transferred directly and indirectly to and from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac within the Plaintiff jurisdictions. Therefore, there are no facts to be discovered as to the Enterprise Defendants’ potential liability for transfer tax. To the extent damages proceedings may be relevant to this Panel’s consideration, as discussed above, see supra at 8, damages in these actions are inherently local and thus there are no efficiencies to be gained by transfer for purposes of damages calculations.<sup>8</sup>

3. Purported Concerns About Inconsistent Class-Certification Rulings Are Misplaced

Genesee recognizes that this litigation will likely not involve any discovery before a court rules on the merits of the threshold legal question and does not seriously contend that centralization is needed to make discovery more efficient. Instead, Genesee asserts that MDL transfer is needed to avoid the risk of potentially inconsistent pretrial rulings with respect to class certification. Genesee Br. at 9.

This is a red herring. All but one of the actions that have been filed are actions on behalf of putative statewide classes of county taxing authorities (or on behalf of a single county). To date, the Enterprise Defendants have stipulated to certification of such classes, and they expect to continue to so stipulate in cases involving similar allegations and claims for back taxes or declaratory judgments as to liability for transfer taxes, so long as the classes are defined to include the state officials who have the authority to enforce payment of such taxes. Because the Enterprise Defendants expect that there will be no dispute as to the statewide classes, and (with one exception discussed below) no overlap between those classes, there is no potential for inconsistent class certification rulings. Centralization is thus not needed to protect against such a risk. See, e.g., In re: Gen. Mills, Inc., Yoplus Yogurt Prods. Mktg. & Sales Practices Litig., MDL 2169, 2010 WL 2346553 (J.P.M.L. June 8, 2010) (denying MDL transfer where one action was “already certified as a statewide class” and the remaining actions sought “similar putative statewide classes encompassing consumers from different states” because “the certified and putative classes will likely not overlap significantly”).

<sup>8</sup> Efficiencies also can be gained without transfer because many plaintiffs share common counsel and thus can informally coordinate to resolve duplicative discovery. See In re: Boehringer Ingelheim Pharm., Inc., Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) Litig., MDL 2219, 2011 WL 346946 (J.P.M.L. Feb. 4, 2011) (“[T]he presence of common counsel for moving plaintiffs in actions filed shortly before the motion for centralization . . . also weigh[s] against centralization.”). Indeed, plaintiffs in Massey, Butts, Small, and Vadnais, share common co-counsel, as do plaintiffs in Oakland / Genesee and Hertel I / Hertel II.

As noted above, Massey (S.D. Ga.), is a putative multi-state class action; Fannie Mae has opposed class certification and moved to strike the nationwide class allegations. If the nationwide class is denied (or stricken), those plaintiffs can still seek to certify statewide classes, which defendants would not anticipate disputing (again, so long as the proper state tax authority or official is included as a plaintiff). To the extent there are multiple actions filed within a state, such as in (at present) West Virginia and Georgia, coordination or consolidation of those actions, rather than transfer of all actions, would avoid the risk of inconsistent, single-state class certification rulings.

4. Transfer Would Provide Only Limited Convenience Benefits

Centralization of the actions would provide little incremental convenience because the cases involve no factual disputes on the issue of whether the Enterprise Defendants are liable for transfer taxes—all agree that the Plaintiff states and counties impose a tax on the transfer of real estate, and that real estate is transferred directly and indirectly to and from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac within those jurisdictions. Hence, while Section 1407 directs the Panel to consider the convenience of the “witnesses,” there will be no witnesses on that issue because there are no material facts in dispute. To the extent damages proceedings would be necessary, centralized discovery proceedings would serve no purpose nor provide any benefit. There will be nothing “common” to discover across these numerous state-wide cases, given the particularities of each state’s practice; because damages must be calculated on a jurisdiction-by-jurisdiction basis the discovery needed to measure damages in one jurisdiction would not be of any use to any other jurisdiction. This leaves only motions practice in the various district courts, but with the benefits of electronic filing such activity requires little if any travel or coordination with local counsel. Accordingly, any convenience benefit of centralization would be modest, and could not outweigh the reality that the common disputed questions in these cases are legal. No purported convenience benefit could transform this litigation into one that meets the threshold “common question[] of fact” requirement of Section 1407.

II. ALTERNATIVELY, IF THE PANEL ORDERS TRANSFER, IT SHOULD DENY TRANSFER OF CERTAIN ACTIONS AND ORDER THAT THE REMAINING ACTIONS BE TRANSFERRED TO THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF VIRGINIA

Should the Panel be inclined to order transfer despite the foregoing arguments, the Enterprise Defendants respectfully request that the Panel (a) deny transfer of certain cases that are procedural outliers, and (b) transfer the remaining actions to the Eastern District of Virginia, a convenient and efficient forum in which a transfer tax action is already pending.

A. The Panel Should Not Transfer Actions That Are Procedural Outliers

“Where there is such a significant procedural disparity among the subject actions, the Panel will take a close look at whether movants have met their burden of demonstrating that centralization will still serve the purposes of Section 1407.” In re Louisiana-Pacific Corp.

Trimboard Siding Mktg., Sales Practices & Prods. Liab. Litig., MDL 2366, 2012 WL 2175773 (J.P.M.L. June 11, 2012). Indeed, the Panel has often found that “[t]he presence of procedural disparities among constituent cases is another factor that can weigh against centralization.” In re CVS Caremark Corp. Wage & Hour Emp’t Practices Litig., MDL 2134, 2010 WL 532561 (J.P.M.L. Feb. 12, 2010).<sup>9</sup>

Here, the cases run the gamut from far advanced (in the two cases pending before the Eastern District of Michigan class certification and liability issues have been resolved,<sup>10</sup> and damages proceedings have commenced) to only just commenced (in several actions, the complaint is the only substantive filing to date<sup>11</sup>). And some but not all of the actions would be controlled by the Sixth Circuit decision that would result if that Court grants a pending petition for interlocutory review. While these significant procedural disparities may suggest that centralization of any cases would be inappropriate, these disparities plainly preclude transfer and centralization of the most procedurally advanced cases at this time.

1. The Panel Should Not Transfer Actions in Which a Fully Briefed Dispositive Motion is Pending or Has Been Decided

In this instance, the Panel should not transfer actions where a fully briefed dispositive motion is pending or has been decided. The Panel has consistently recognized that “principles of comity” weigh against transfer of any action “that has an important motion under submission

<sup>9</sup> See also In re Louisiana-Pacific Corp. Trimboard Siding Mktg, Sales Practices & Prods. Liab. Litig., MDL 2366, 2012 WL 2175773 (J.P.M.L. June 11, 2012) (denying transfer and noting that “[t]he efficiencies that could be achieved in the newly filed actions [was] apparent, but we are not convinced, even after oral argument, of how centralization would benefit the significantly more advanced . . . action pending in the proposed transferee district”).

with a court.” In re L. E. Lay & Co. Antitrust Litig., 391 F. Supp. 1054, 1056 (J.P.M.L. 1975).<sup>12</sup> Pragmatic considerations also favor allowing multiple district courts to consider the legal issues underlying liability—the variety of legal and analytical perspectives that multiple district court decision would reflect could benefit the Courts of Appeals in reaching their decisions. See supra 9. Accordingly, the Panel should not transfer any action in which a fully briefed dispositive motion is pending or has been decided at the time the Panel makes its decision (such as Hertel I, Hertel II, Massey, Oakland, and Genesee).<sup>13</sup> The remaining cases, however, are in early stages of litigation—in some, no defendant has even entered an appearance.<sup>14</sup> It makes little sense to combine such procedurally disparate cases into one MDL proceeding. Only those cases at the same stage of litigation—where dispositive motions have not been filed and fully briefed—should be considered for transfer and centralization.

2. The Panel Should Deny Transfer of Actions in the Sixth Circuit, Where a Petition for Interlocutory Review of Judge Roberts’ Decisions is Pending

Cases that could be controlled by a pending appeal are also procedurally different from cases that would not be so controlled. Accordingly, if it grants transfer, the Panel should exclude all cases that would be controlled by the Sixth Circuit appeal sought by the Enterprise

<sup>13</sup> See Exhibit A (identifying three Transfer Tax actions in which a fully briefed dispositive motion is currently pending and the two actions in which such a motion as already been decided). The dispositive motion pending on Massey (S.D. Ga.) does not address the statutory exemption issue; that issue will be addressed in future dispositive motions to be filed after class certification issues are settled.

<sup>14</sup> The Defendants intend to move to dismiss many, if not all, of the newly filed actions. To the extent that litigation in those cases is not stayed during the pendency of this motion to consolidate and thus motions to dismiss are fully briefed and heard before this Panel acts, those actions also should not be transferred at this time.

Defendants' pending petition for interlocutory review of Judge Roberts' decisions in Genesee and Oakland.<sup>15</sup> See Multidistrict Litig. Manual § 3:8 (2012) ("The Panel is not allowed to transfer cases . . . that are on appeal."). In In re: Parallel Networks, LLC, ('111) Patent Litig., --- F. Supp. 2d ---, 2012 WL 2175762, at *2 n.4 (J.P.M.L. June 12, 2012), the Panel recently granted transfer under Section 1407, but refused to transfer one case where the district court in that case had already granted summary judgment and that ruling was pending on appeal (as would be the case here if the Sixth Circuit grants interlocutory review).<sup>16</sup> Accordingly, the Panel should not transfer any of the five transfer tax actions, including Oakland and Genesee, that are pending within the Sixth Circuit (or any other actions that may be filed in that circuit).

B. In the Event the Panel Opts to Centralize Any Remaining Actions, It Should Transfer Them to the Eastern District of Virginia

As noted above, there are a plethora of reasons for the Panel to reject Genesee's request to transfer these cases to Judge Roberts and, indeed, to deny the motion outright. If the Panel is nevertheless inclined to grant transfer, Defendants respectfully request that all transferable actions be centralized in the Eastern District of Virginia, where a transfer tax case is currently pending before the Honorable Henry E. Hudson.<sup>17</sup> In selecting a transferee forum, the Panel has <sup>15</sup> See Exhibit B (identifying five Transfer Tax actions pending in the Sixth Circuit). While the Enterprise Defendants cannot predict with certainty when the Sixth Circuit will act on the pending petition, as to which briefing closed June 8, 2012, they believe it is reasonable to anticipate a decision before the Panel will hear argument on the transfer motion.

<sup>16</sup> See also In re Nat'l Student Mktg. Litig., 368 F. Supp. 1311, 1314 (J.P.M.L. 1972) (denying transfer of claims where interlocutory appeal was pending at the time transfer was sought); In re Mid-Air Collision Near Hendersonville, N.C. on July 19, 1967, 297 F. Supp. 1039, 1040 (J.P.M.L. 1969) (same, observing that "action by the Panel at this time could disrupt the [appellate] review proceeding now in process"); In re U. S. Navy Variable Reenlistment Bonus Litig., 407 F. Supp. at 1407 (denying transfer where the outcome of pending appeals "could have a substantial if not dispositive effect on all the actions pending in districts within those circuits").

<sup>17</sup> Enterprise Defendants also respectfully submit that the Alexandria Division of the Eastern District of Virginia would be an appropriate transferee forum; centralization there would entail at consistently considered factors such as:

- The proposed district’s proximity to common defendants;
- The existence of a transferable action in the proposed district;
- The centrality of the proposed district to all pending actions;
- The proposed district’s caseload;
- The substantive experience of the proposed district and transferee judge; and,
- The interests of the federal government.

All factors considered, the Eastern District of Virginia is the most appropriate transferee district.

First and foremost, the Eastern District of Virginia is convenient for the Enterprises, either or both of which are parties to every Transfer Tax case. Freddie Mac’s principal place of business is located within that district at McLean, Virginia (in the Alexandria Division); Fannie Mae and FHFA are headquartered just a few miles away in Washington D.C. The Panel has consistently transferred to jurisdictions where common defendants—including the Enterprises—have their principal place of business.<sup>18</sup> That factor is especially strong where—as here—there is no single place where common factual events can be said to have occurred.<sup>19</sup>

The Eastern District of Virginia is also convenient for FHFA, which is located in Washington D.C. Where a federal agency has a substantial interest in the litigation, as FHFA least the same convenience benefits (if not more) as centralization before Judge Hudson, who sits in the Richmond Division.

<sup>18</sup> See, e.g., In re: Kaplan Higher Educ. Corp. Qui Tam Litig., 626 F. Supp. 2d 1323, 1324 (J.P.M.L. 2009) (transferring to district where defendant had one of its headquarters); In re Fed. Nat’l Mortg. Ass’n Secs. Derivative & “ERISA” Litig., 370 F. Supp. 2d 1359, 1361 (J.P.M.L. 2005) (transferring to the District of Columbia, in part, because “Fannie Mae [the common defendant] is headquartered within the District of Columbia”).

<sup>19</sup> See In re Sundstrand Data Control, Inc. Patent Litig., 443 F. Supp. 1019, 1021 (J.P.M.L. 1978) (transferring to jurisdiction where defendant had its principal place of business, though it had no pending cases, because “[n]one of the districts in which actions are pending offers a strong nexus to the common factual questions in this litigation, and little discovery on those issues could be expected to occur in any of them”).

does here, the Panel has often selected a transferee court near the agency's headquarters.<sup>20</sup> The district is also convenient for plaintiffs because these actions have been filed across the southeast, up and down the eastern seaboard, and in the midwest. The Eastern District of Virginia's proximity to four major airports in the Washington, DC/Richmond area make it accessible and convenient for all parties and counsel.<sup>21</sup>

Additionally, the judges of the Eastern District of Virginia have the experience necessary to handle this litigation. For example, Judge Hudson is currently presiding over Small, a Transfer Tax action brought on behalf of a putative statewide class of Virginia officials. And the Panel has repeatedly selected the Eastern District of Virginia as a transferee forum.<sup>22</sup>

Finally, the Eastern District of Virginia is known as the "rocket docket" because "civil actions quickly move to trial or are otherwise resolved" by that court. Pragmatus AV, LLC v.

<sup>20</sup> See, e.g., In re Practice of Naturopathy Litig., 434 F. Supp. 1240, 1243 (J.P.M.L. 1977) ("Because these 30 actions are pending throughout the entire United States, and because no overall focal point of discovery has emerged, no district stands out as the most appropriate transferee forum. Gen. Life & Accident. Ins. Co. Indus. Life Ins. Litig.*, 175 F. Supp. 2d 1380, 1381 (J.P.M.L. 2001) ("In selecting the District of South Carolina as transferee district, we observe that the districts with pending actions and the location of the defendant give this litigation a Southern tilt.").

<sup>22</sup> See, e.g., In re Xyberbaut Corp. Sec. Litig., 403 F. Supp. 2d 1354, 1355 (J.P.M.L. 2005); In re W. Elec. Co., Inc. Semiconductor Patent Litig., 415 F. Supp. 378, 379 (J.P.M.L. 1976); In re Westinghouse Elec. Corp. Uranium Contracts Litig., 405 F. Supp. 316, 319 (J.P.M.L. 1975) In re E. Airlines, Inc. Flight Attendant Weight Program Litig., 391 F. Supp. 763, 765 (J.P.M.L. 1975).

Facebook, Inc., 769 F. Supp. 2d 991, 996 (E.D. Va. 2011). Current statistics demonstrate that, on average, the Eastern District of Virginia disposes of civil cases in only 5.1 months—about 30% faster than the national average.<sup>23</sup> Simply put, if these actions are to be centralized, transfer to the Eastern District of Virginia would promote their just and efficient resolution.<sup>24</sup>

By contrast, transfer to the Eastern District of Michigan would be neither just nor efficient. Judge Roberts has already granted Genesee’s motion for summary judgment and the only issues that remain are specific to those actions—namely, a calculation of damages for the relevant Michigan counties and the resolution of recently added claims based on Michigan state law. Accordingly, there would be little to no efficiency gained by transfer to that court. Finally, because the actions pending in the Sixth Circuit should not be included in any centralized proceeding, the Eastern District of Michigan has no interest in overseeing the Transfer Tax cases.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Panel should deny Genesee’s Motion For Transfer. Alternatively, if the Panel determines that transfer is appropriate, the Enterprise Defendants respectfully request that the Panel stay transfer of the actions identified in Exhibit A and transfer the remaining actions, identified in Exhibit B, to the Eastern District of Virginia.
